

Be Transformed

Since the beginning of this cycle of time, humanity has returned to nature to connect with spirit and to seek answers to problems. There is something about being alone in the wilderness that brings us closer - makes us more aware - of the 4 elements - and our connection to a creational source. We go to seek truths - divine realization - just as many of the ancient prophets did in their time.

Vision Quest

In its own way - the Vision Quest is an Initiation not unlike the days of the ancient mystery school teachings where one learns about themselves and the mysteries of the universe are often revealed to them. It is a time of internal transformation and renewal. Who am I? Why am I here?

In a Vision Quest, conditions are set up that allow the soul to move beyond the illusions of the little self and enter the unity of the inner whole. It is a time of fasting - praying - and being in nature.

It is a period of solitude in which we seek an inner revelation - a vision -which grants profound meaning and direction to our life. This initiation leads to maturity and an understanding of our responsibility to ourselves, our society, our natural environment, and our soul.

Though the Vision Quest is associated with Native Americans traditions - it is practiced all over the world.

Vision Quest Leader Zoe Bryant

One of Zoe Bryant's greatest offerings includes the ability to nurture individuals on a "one on one" basis through this personal intensive ceremony. Through over 20 years of spiritual training and initiations she has been blessed to lead this ceremony.

It is a life changing event and there comes a time when the soul is ready for a new direction.

HOW TO PREPARE

Your Vision Quest begins once you have made a commitment to Quest. It is suggested that you take some time each day to reflect on your purpose for Questing. You may keep a journal during this time to record any insights you may have. Think about what you want in life: How can I best serve? What is the path? What role will I play? What am I here to fulfill? Have I felt it? Have I sensed it? If not, these are things to strive for. Once you have registered for the Quest, you will be sent a complete list of preparations and things to bring with you. Each person questing is requested to bring a support person.
